2007-11-11 Holidays

From November 12th to December 8th, we will be on our holidays. The camp will stay open (some limited services though) during this time. We kindly ask for patience if answering your email requests may take a little longer than usual.

2007-11-05 Renovations

Cottage no. 1 became totally renovated this autumn and now shines brightly in fresh yellow and blue colours. Many thanks to Jörg who did a great job and choose a new inhouse design. Cottage no. 6 is now equipped with a wider and comfortable bed.

2007-10-20 Quiet autumn and first snow

Autumn brought us wonderful leaf colours and fine weather. We had marvellous hours out in the nature and explored the surroundings at this late time of the year. Bright sunrises helped to get up early in the morning and a relaxing visit in our sauna warmed our tired bones in the evening. At the end of October, the first snow remained on the camp for a couple of days - time to prepare the snowblower for the winter season.

2007-08-15 Summer

Also this summer, we worked hard to enhance the camp. As an example given, we straightened out all access routes and painted the indoor service building.

Our new boats "Eila" and "Ronja" may take you on a fishing trip or simply pull a surfboard.

We were rewarded with a record number of kind guests coming for a visit - many of them were returning faces. By the way: The guests coming from furthest away came all the way from Israel!

2007-03-06 Real winter

The winter brought much snow and cold. Our brandnew snowblower had to work a lot and the sauna was frequently used due to low temperatures.

2007-01-25 Winter storms, icy rain and finally snow

Not only in Middle Europe the weather went crazy this winter. Even in Torsby, the seasonal temperatures were all too high - normally, we would have snow in November. On January 20th, everything went back to normal and we had some 20-30 cm of fresh snow, followed by sinking temperatures around -10° bis -24° Celsius (with lots of sun!). Now, all kinds of winter sports like skiing or ice fishing are possible without restrictions.

Unusual warm weather without frost in December - it was even possible to rake the leaves.

Result of one of the three winter stormes - fortunately fixed within 30 minutes.

Mid of January: rain cannot drain. Due to the iccold soil it freezes to large lakes on the camp.

On January 20th, we finally receive a higher amount of snow and falling temperatures.

2007-01-01 Great New Year's party

This year, we unseasonably hadn't snow at the end of December. However, the camp was fully booked and the main building full of nice people. We had a party until the early morning and much to talk about.. At midnight, we had some very nice fireworks - greatly to watch thanks to the clear nightly sky.
